"John and Mary McCay, the blind musicians, entertained a large and most appreciative audience at their concert and entertainment at Warner Hall last evening, in which they presented a delightful program of vocal and piano music.
"Miss McCay has a pleasing, clear, soprano voice, and her brother is a baritone of no mean ability. His impersonations of Irish characters and humorous pieces were most cleverly given. Both John and Mary McCay are accomplished pianists in spite of their blindness, and gave several instrumental numbers. Their entire program was well received and afforded a pleasant evening for all who heard them."—New Haven Journal-Courier.

ship and of those who would attest to the good character of the petitioners that the court room was crowded.
Petitioners who were interviewed stated that their desire to have a part in the coming state and national elections and to be in a position hereafter to battle with their ballots against further repressive legislation were chief reasons for taking oath of allegiance to the country where the great majority of them have earned their living for many years.
Among the large number admitted was a group of former service men. In becoming citizens the petitioners fore-swear all allegiance to various countries from which they came—England, Scotland, Canada and other parts of the British empire, Austria, Poland, Austria, Italy, Turkey and Russia.

Not in years have so many men been admitted to citizenship on one day in the superior court in this city as was the case on Wednesday.
Answers to questions put by Examiner Church, representing the government, brought forth some amazing answers, but on the whole the petitioners were quite well prepared and well informed as to the fundamental principles of the state and federal systems of government.
It was more or less surprising to learn from some of the men's answers, however, that Marcus H. Holcomb is a United States Senator from Connecticut that the governor speaks the laws for this state and that the laws in Washington are made "at the White House," which latter assertion got a good laugh from some of the men in the court room who make at least a cursory study of national politics. All were amazed to learn that the independence of the United States dates back "something over 500 years. I can't remember exactly," as asserted by one petitioner, whose case was continued that he might devote himself to further study.
One man who was admitted to citizenship said that he had been a resident within the United States for 41 years. Several others have lived here for more than 30 years without becoming sufficiently interested until recently to desire the right of citizenship. Scarcely one of these men has been outside of the United States since first arriving here. Great British furnished the bulk of the number admitted to citizenship here on Wednesday, when the court was busy practically all day with the cases.

The list of those admitted included the following former service men, representing various branches of the fighting arm of the government during the recent war: Joseph Perigo, Danielson; Arthur Cyril Auson, North Groves-nordale; Norbert A. Blain, North Groves-nordale; Mike Jim, North Groves-nordale; Aujure Gaudreau, Danielson; Philip Cro-

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Danielson and Goodyear are to be represented in the big bowling tournament that will attract stars of the game from all parts of New England and other sections of the country to New York during the week of May 24. Frank Barber, owner of the Casino alleyway, and Selectman James Bacon, who is a nifty artist on the alleys, are going down to take a hand in the proceedings. Messrs. Barber and Bacon will make a good team; both are able to do a good job "trimming" opponents and both are confident that they'll get a slice of the "bacon." And there are scores of friends here rooting for them to "come through."

County Game Warden Harry E. Battery, of East Killingly, continues his efforts to see that the state law against non-residents of the state fishing in Connecticut is enforced. In the town of Thompson Warden Battery arrested Adelbert Ward of East Douglas, Ward, when arrested, had no license to fish in Connecticut and was in possession of several trout measuring from 4 to 4 1/2 inches in length. Warden Battery said in discussing the case that Ward is entitled to certain consideration, so did not

SHE FEELS FINE NOW

Aches and pains often indicate kidneys out of order. Your kidneys surely need help—and quickly—when your hands or feet are swollen and you feel dull and sluggish, lose your appetite and your energy and there is a puffiness look under the eyes. Mrs. L. Gibson, 12th and Edison Sts., LaJolla, Cal., writes: "My kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble for some time. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me right away. I feel fine now." press all the charges against him. When the case came before Judge Thomas Ryan in the town of Thompson only actual costs, amounting to $20.25 were assessed against Warden Battery. Fishing broke in the town of Thompson. All of these men had licenses to fish in the state of Connecticut and none of them were in possession of "short" trout.

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. R. James Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Reed were conducted by Rev. Albert J. Sego, rector of St. Alban's church. The service was attended by many relatives and friends. Six grandsons of Mrs. Reed acted as bearers. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. There were beautiful floral pieces. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Ellen Root, 74, a native of England, died at Dayville, where she has been making her home. Mrs. Root, who was the widow of Charles Root, leaves no relatives so far as is known here.

When one stops to think that ice was $1.00 a hundred pounds in Danielson last summer, it is a little distressing to think that many tons of good ice, stored during the past winter, is being thrown out of an icehouse owned by the Quinebaug company. The icehouse must go to make way for the big stockhouse that the company is getting ready to erect. The mill company made an effort to sell the ice, but has been unable to find a purchaser, so it will be allowed to go to waste.

At Wauregan Wednesday afternoon, many gathered at the home of Allen Moffitt to pay final honors to George Baker, who died Sunday evening. Representatives of the lodge of Masons at Moosup, of the Masonic organizations with which Mr. Baker was affiliated here and of Putnam lodge of Elks attended the service. Burial was in the Putnam Heights cemetery.

A number of Danielson men were included in the long list of those admitted to citizenship at the session of the superior court in Putnam Wednesday. Practically all of these who were admitted from Danielson are natives of Canada, but the majority of them have lived in the United States since their childhood days. These new citizens will be made voters in time for the town, state and national elections this fall. Among those admitted from Danielson were a few former service men.

William H. Putnam the Hartford banker who formerly lived in Danielson, is chairman of the republican party and means committee of Connecticut that is to be in charge of raising this state's share of the national campaign fund of the party. Similar committees have been organized in every state. It is proposed to have the republican national campaign fund made up of a large number of small contributions, instead of a small number of large subscriptions.

Good progress continues in making ready for operation the old Whitestone mill at East Killingly, the new concern to be known, it is likely as the Fern Lea company. It is said that it is likely that this new industry will attract a considerable number of workers now employed in Danielson, but resident in or near East Killingly.

Movements of material continue to be heavy over the line of the Rhode Island company, which operates a fast freight and express service from Providence into and out of this section. Much material shipped from here over this line is forwarded from Providence to New York.

Chief operators from divisions of the S. N. E. T. company in this section were at New London Wednesday to attend one of a series of conferences arranged for officials, division managers and chief operators during the past few weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. William Saretaki expect to move from the West Side to their new home on Oak Hill, Putnam, during the coming week.

Business men here are complaining generally of the long and disappointing delays to which they are subjected by the non-arrival of freight and of their inability to forward certain kinds of shipments to many points.

It was announced Wednesday afternoon that the business that has been conducted for the past four years by McEwen and Chapin has been taken over by Henry A. McEwen, senior member of the firm, who has purchased an interest and good will of Henry W. Chapin, his partner. This is one of the most important trade transactions of the day that have taken place in Danielson during the past few months.

Mr. Chapin is retiring from the business to give his entire attention to the class of repair work in which he is skilled and which he has so successfully followed for so many years and he will remain in Danielson.

McEwen and Chapin purchased the business which now passes to Mr. McEwen four years ago from Frank T. Preston. Messrs. McEwen and Chapin had been in the employ of Mr. Preston for long terms of years prior to coming into possession of the business. Mr. McEwen having been with Mr. Preston for about 25 years. Since taking over the business McEwen and Chapin have expanded it in many ways and have been very successful.

Mr. McEwen said Wednesday afternoon that the business will be continued under the firm name of Henry A. McEwen, successor to McEwen and Chapin. He said that he has in mind certain plans for developing in still further degree the business that has flourished so well during the past four years and will make announcements appertaining to these plans within the next few days.

The formal dissolution of the partnership was made Wednesday. Mr. McEwen coming immediately into full control of the business.
There is interest here in the announcement that Rev. Remsen Brinckerhoff Ogby of New York was recently elected president of Trinity college, Hartford to succeed Rev. Flavel Sweeten Luther, formerly of the neighboring town of Brooklyn. Rev. Mr. Brinckerhoff is the Episcopal clergyman and is a graduate of Harvard university, class of 1902. He studied later at the General Theological seminary in New York and at the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge, Mass.

All demand for daylight saving has died out in Danielson. Having become accustomed to the present irregularity of time, as compared to the time in New England, Danielson now manages very well, notwithstanding that the present arrangement is inconvenient for a very small percentage of the population, who realize that the greatest good for the greatest number is what counts.

PUTNAM
Judge John E. Keiser came here Wednesday to hold a session of the superior court for naturalization purposes. So great was the assemblage of those who would be admitted to citizen-
